

Dr. Ratnakar Gedam
Former Adviser (Transport)
Planning Commission, India

Dr. Ratnakar Gedam is a former Adviser (Transport) in the Planning Commission, New Delhi. He has dealt with Shipping, Ports, Inland Water Ways, Coastal Shipping etc. as well as Transport Sectors of States. He has held various senior and responsible positions in Ministry of Industry and Planning Commission. In his career span of over 30 years he dealt with national level planning of Metallurgical and Mining Sector as well as Transport Sector.

He authored 16 books and over 85 articles of national importance including the one which has suggested feasibility of GDP growth of 8% as target in the 9th Five Year Plan. He has also chaired several technical sessions in national and international conferences and seminars.

He has multidisciplinary qualification namely in four academic disciplines namely Metallurgical Engineering, Economics, Management and Law.